

Get Your Friends Involved ... Virtually!

Make It Internet Official

Create a club website or social media page to post activities, photos, contact information, and announcements.

Speak Up

Write blog posts, social media posts, or articles about the importance of our cause. Share OneSky's web stories and social posts. This is a great opportunity to educate others about the needs of orphaned and vulnerable children, and offer simple ways for your extended network to get involved.

TIP: At the end of the day, the most compelling posts will be the ones you share about your own story or connection to our work. Your friends and family will be more motivated to get engaged if they know why OneSky is important to you!

ORGANIZE VIRTUAL SOCIAL EVENTS

Set-up monthly meetings for group members to get to know each other better and check-in with one another. This will help build friendships within your club! Some suggestions:

- GAME Host online game nights with prizes.
- MOVIE NIGHT Watch a movie together and chat using Netflix Party.
- BOOK CLUB Host a virtual book club. Email us for a list of book recommendations!
- COOK Create a club cookbook, and have everyone pitch in one of their favorite recipes.
- ONESKY EVENT Host an awareness webinar about OneSky to educate your community, and encourage donations. This is a great way to connect with your local community and educate others about the needs of orphaned and vulnerable children, and how everyone can help. Reach out to our team for materials to share.
- SUPPORT EACH OTHER Recognize this is a tough year, and schedule weekly check-ins with group members. Nominate one person each week for a show-and-tell so everyone can learn more about each other.
- MOVE AROUND Teach an online dance/exercise/yoga class for younger students in your area.

ONESKY HIGHLY RECOMMENDS

HOST a virtual book discussion on "Wish You Happy Forever: What China's Orphans Taught Me About Moving Mountains", a memoir written by OneSky's Founder and CEO, Jenny Bowen.
